

Whig and Courier.

John S. Hayward, Editor.

THURSDAY, JAN. 12, 1864.

Our neighbor, Mr. Daniel C. Stone has opened a beautiful store in the new brick block on the corner of Exchange street and Kenduskeag Bridge. The exterior of the building is commanding and the location one of the most desirable in the city. The interior is highly finished, and Mr. Stone has a fine stock of clocks, watches, jewelry and fancy goods, all elegantly arranged, and making altogether an attractive appearance, which is sure to secure to him a substantial business. Mr. Stone is a good workman in the watch business, and doctors all the ailments of the time keepers.

The Duntoman system of Penmanship is getting to be as popular at the West as in New England. The system is now introduced into the public schools of St. Louis, Chicago and Cincinnati with the entire approbation of the teachers, and where it gives the highest satisfaction. Mr. Stone is frequently invited to visit the city with his chart and books for the purpose of instructing teachers in the method of teaching penmanship to large classes by the Duntoman system and he has in no instance yet failed to show the superiority of this system over all others.

A meeting of citizens was held at the Mechanics Institute on Thursday evening to consider the recent events connected with the Union. The meeting was largely attended and the proceedings were very quiet. The Mayor and police were heard denouncing the German Freemen, and the German Freemen in return, the Mayor was charged with having been in the city in the night, and a resolution was adopted that the Mayor be voted down. Warrants were issued for the arrest of Judge Spooner, Capt. Lunger of the police, and one hundred and four police and watchmen, charged with rioting and assaulting before the Mayor, and gave him for his appearance on Monday, to answer.

During nearly the twenty years we have been in the newspaper and printing business in this city, we have encountered various difficulties, but have never attempted to benefit ourselves by injuring others. Law and order have been our motto and the rule of our conduct. We have never boasted of the superior excellence of our paper over others, but have endeavored to make it speak for itself. We have never pretended that speaking was with us a secondary matter, which we did not deem, but have endeavored to make it for the interest of our friends to advertise, not by serving them well in the paper, and by giving to them as far as possible, our custom. If in doing this we have displeased any one, we do not regret that displeasure as it is not on our part, and we throw back the imputations of the Jeffersonian into its teeth for it to chew at its leisure.

We have invariably refused to employ runaway apprentices from other offices, or "third-handers" of any stamp. We have employed a greater number of journeymen for fifteen years past than any other and probably more than all the other offices in the city. We have paid higher salaries to journeymen during a portion of that time than was ever paid by any other office in Bangor.

We have now in our employ one man who has been with us nearly twenty years—another nine years, and another three years. This is certainly not bad record, and if the Jeffersonian wished to smash its head in diving into the private affairs of any printing office we do not know that it could have selected one that could resist the blow better than this office.

This is not a warfare which we intend to pursue by rooting into the private business of the Jeffersonian office, as their workmen are undoubtedly competent to make their own bargains, as we certainly know that our workmen are, and we disclaim the remark that "we doubt whether any of our workmen have made the subject of their agreements with us a matter of complaint or of public talk, but rather believe that the Jeffersonian has satisfied in that, as in other matters."

In justice to the memory of that venerable old man, Peter Edes, the publisher of the first paper printed in Bangor, whose Jeffersonian attempts to ridicule, we would say that we never heard his public or private character spoken against before, nor do we believe that he acted a dishonorable part in any of his transactions with his workmen or with others.

Mr. Littlefield desires us to say, that the ladies who placed his name amongst the teachers of the Girls' High School, made a mistake, he never having been a teacher in the school, unless hearing a class recite in French a short time, in connection with it, entitles him to that honor.

Perhaps, however, we should add, that prior to the establishment of the Girls' High School, a select school for girls was under the instruction of Miss Bright. She was called away from the city, and Mr. Littlefield, then having a private school, volunteered his services to take charge of the school for a few months for nothing, if the committee had nothing to pay, in order to try the experiment of sustaining a Girls' School of a high grade. His offer was accepted, and the same sum per week paid to Mr. L. which had been paid to Miss Bright.

The committee and the city government at length made a very thorough examination of the school, and finally adopted it as the Girls' High School. It is not then, strictly true that either Mr. Littlefield or Miss Bright were teachers of the Girls' High School proper, although she labored prepared the way for the establishment of the school upon its present high grade.

The Whig of yesterday stated that a correspondence had suggested that some demonstration be made in honor of the oldest school teacher in the city. It is a very good suggestion and we hope it will be acted upon. He thirty years, and his earlier scholars are now in middle age and among our most prominent citizens. A reunion of his former pupils would be the occasion of much pleasure to all concerned and undoubtedly his winter evening class can be spent more pleasantly. We suggest the evening of St. Valentine's Day or the occasion of a Mercury.

The matter is now fairly before the "meeting house," and as we are probably the oldest member of the board, we take the responsibility to give notice that a preliminary meeting of all graduates of Mr. Valentine's school will be held at the Common Council Room, at half past seven o'clock, for consultation—Editor of Daily Whig and Courier.

The City Missionary Rev. Mr. Wells, desires us to say that he has received fifty dollars from unknown "Friends" for charitable purposes. The money will be faithfully appropriated according to the expressed wishes of the donor. This is the third annual donation of fifty dollars from the person for the same object.

We understand that the same person, as expressed above, has contributed another fifty dollars to the same object.

Our neighbor, Mr. Daniel C. Stone has opened a beautiful store in the new brick block on the corner of Exchange street and Kenduskeag Bridge. The exterior of the building is commanding and the location one of the most desirable in the city. The interior is highly finished, and Mr. Stone has a fine stock of clocks, watches, jewelry and fancy goods, all elegantly arranged, and making altogether an attractive appearance, which is sure to secure to him a substantial business. Mr. Stone is a good workman in the watch business, and doctors all the ailments of the time keepers.

The Duntoman system of Penmanship is getting to be as popular at the West as in New England. The system is now introduced into the public schools of St. Louis, Chicago and Cincinnati with the entire approbation of the teachers, and where it gives the highest satisfaction. Mr. Stone is frequently invited to visit the city with his chart and books for the purpose of instructing teachers in the method of teaching penmanship to large classes by the Duntoman system and he has in no instance yet failed to show the superiority of this system over all others.

A meeting of citizens was held at the Mechanics Institute on Thursday evening to consider the recent events connected with the Union. The meeting was largely attended and the proceedings were very quiet. The Mayor and police were heard denouncing the German Freemen, and the German Freemen in return, the Mayor was charged with having been in the city in the night, and a resolution was adopted that the Mayor be voted down. Warrants were issued for the arrest of Judge Spooner, Capt. Lunger of the police, and one hundred and four police and watchmen, charged with rioting and assaulting before the Mayor, and gave him for his appearance on Monday, to answer.

During nearly the twenty years we have been in the newspaper and printing business in this city, we have encountered various difficulties, but have never attempted to benefit ourselves by injuring others. Law and order have been our motto and the rule of our conduct. We have never boasted of the superior excellence of our paper over others, but have endeavored to make it speak for itself. We have never pretended that speaking was with us a secondary matter, which we did not deem, but have endeavored to make it for the interest of our friends to advertise, not by serving them well in the paper, and by giving to them as far as possible, our custom. If in doing this we have displeased any one, we do not regret that displeasure as it is not on our part, and we throw back the imputations of the Jeffersonian into its teeth for it to chew at its leisure.

We have invariably refused to employ runaway apprentices from other offices, or "third-handers" of any stamp. We have employed a greater number of journeymen for fifteen years past than any other and probably more than all the other offices in the city. We have paid higher salaries to journeymen during a portion of that time than was ever paid by any other office in Bangor.

We have now in our employ one man who has been with us nearly twenty years—another nine years, and another three years. This is certainly not bad record, and if the Jeffersonian wished to smash its head in diving into the private affairs of any printing office we do not know that it could have selected one that could resist the blow better than this office.

This is not a warfare which we intend to pursue by rooting into the private business of the Jeffersonian office, as their workmen are undoubtedly competent to make their own bargains, as we certainly know that our workmen are, and we disclaim the remark that "we doubt whether any of our workmen have made the subject of their agreements with us a matter of complaint or of public talk, but rather believe that the Jeffersonian has satisfied in that, as in other matters."

In justice to the memory of that venerable old man, Peter Edes, the publisher of the first paper printed in Bangor, whose Jeffersonian attempts to ridicule, we would say that we never heard his public or private character spoken against before, nor do we believe that he acted a dishonorable part in any of his transactions with his workmen or with others.

Mr. Littlefield desires us to say, that the ladies who placed his name amongst the teachers of the Girls' High School, made a mistake, he never having been a teacher in the school, unless hearing a class recite in French a short time, in connection with it, entitles him to that honor.

Perhaps, however, we should add, that prior to the establishment of the Girls' High School, a select school for girls was under the instruction of Miss Bright. She was called away from the city, and Mr. Littlefield, then having a private school, volunteered his services to take charge of the school for a few months for nothing, if the committee had nothing to pay, in order to try the experiment of sustaining a Girls' School of a high grade. His offer was accepted, and the same sum per week paid to Mr. L. which had been paid to Miss Bright.

The committee and the city government at length made a very thorough examination of the school, and finally adopted it as the Girls' High School. It is not then, strictly true that either Mr. Littlefield or Miss Bright were teachers of the Girls' High School proper, although she labored prepared the way for the establishment of the school upon its present high grade.

The Whig of yesterday stated that a correspondence had suggested that some demonstration be made in honor of the oldest school teacher in the city. It is a very good suggestion and we hope it will be acted upon. He thirty years, and his earlier scholars are now in middle age and among our most prominent citizens. A reunion of his former pupils would be the occasion of much pleasure to all concerned and undoubtedly his winter evening class can be spent more pleasantly. We suggest the evening of St. Valentine's Day or the occasion of a Mercury.

The matter is now fairly before the "meeting house," and as we are probably the oldest member of the board, we take the responsibility to give notice that a preliminary meeting of all graduates of Mr. Valentine's school will be held at the Common Council Room, at half past seven o'clock, for consultation—Editor of Daily Whig and Courier.

The City Missionary Rev. Mr. Wells, desires us to say that he has received fifty dollars from unknown "Friends" for charitable purposes. The money will be faithfully appropriated according to the expressed wishes of the donor. This is the third annual donation of fifty dollars from the person for the same object.

We understand that the same person, as expressed above, has contributed another fifty dollars to the same object.

Our neighbor, Mr. Daniel C. Stone has opened a beautiful store in the new brick block on the corner of Exchange street and Kenduskeag Bridge. The exterior of the building is commanding and the location one of the most desirable in the city. The interior is highly finished, and Mr. Stone has a fine stock of clocks, watches, jewelry and fancy goods, all elegantly arranged, and making altogether an attractive appearance, which is sure to secure to him a substantial business. Mr. Stone is a good workman in the watch business, and doctors all the ailments of the time keepers.

The Duntoman system of Penmanship is getting to be as popular at the West as in New England. The system is now introduced into the public schools of St. Louis, Chicago and Cincinnati with the entire approbation of the teachers, and where it gives the highest satisfaction. Mr. Stone is frequently invited to visit the city with his chart and books for the purpose of instructing teachers in the method of teaching penmanship to large classes by the Duntoman system and he has in no instance yet failed to show the superiority of this system over all others.

A meeting of citizens was held at the Mechanics Institute on Thursday evening to consider the recent events connected with the Union. The meeting was largely attended and the proceedings were very quiet. The Mayor and police were heard denouncing the German Freemen, and the German Freemen in return, the Mayor was charged with having been in the city in the night, and a resolution was adopted that the Mayor be voted down. Warrants were issued for the arrest of Judge Spooner, Capt. Lunger of the police, and one hundred and four police and watchmen, charged with rioting and assaulting before the Mayor, and gave him for his appearance on Monday, to answer.

During nearly the twenty years we have been in the newspaper and printing business in this city, we have encountered various difficulties, but have never attempted to benefit ourselves by injuring others. Law and order have been our motto and the rule of our conduct. We have never boasted of the superior excellence of our paper over others, but have endeavored to make it speak for itself. We have never pretended that speaking was with us a secondary matter, which we did not deem, but have endeavored to make it for the interest of our friends to advertise, not by serving them well in the paper, and by giving to them as far as possible, our custom. If in doing this we have displeased any one, we do not regret that displeasure as it is not on our part, and we throw back the imputations of the Jeffersonian into its teeth for it to chew at its leisure.

We have invariably refused to employ runaway apprentices from other offices, or "third-handers" of any stamp. We have employed a greater number of journeymen for fifteen years past than any other and probably more than all the other offices in the city. We have paid higher salaries to journeymen during a portion of that time than was ever paid by any other office in Bangor.

We have now in our employ one man who has been with us nearly twenty years—another nine years, and another three years. This is certainly not bad record, and if the Jeffersonian wished to smash its head in diving into the private affairs of any printing office we do not know that it could have selected one that could resist the blow better than this office.

This is not a warfare which we intend to pursue by rooting into the private business of the Jeffersonian office, as their workmen are undoubtedly competent to make their own bargains, as we certainly know that our workmen are, and we disclaim the remark that "we doubt whether any of our workmen have made the subject of their agreements with us a matter of complaint or of public talk, but rather believe that the Jeffersonian has satisfied in that, as in other matters."

In justice to the memory of that venerable old man, Peter Edes, the publisher of the first paper printed in Bangor, whose Jeffersonian attempts to ridicule, we would say that we never heard his public or private character spoken against before, nor do we believe that he acted a dishonorable part in any of his transactions with his workmen or with others.

Mr. Littlefield desires us to say, that the ladies who placed his name amongst the teachers of the Girls' High School, made a mistake, he never having been a teacher in the school, unless hearing a class recite in French a short time, in connection with it, entitles him to that honor.

Perhaps, however, we should add, that prior to the establishment of the Girls' High School, a select school for girls was under the instruction of Miss Bright. She was called away from the city, and Mr. Littlefield, then having a private school, volunteered his services to take charge of the school for a few months for nothing, if the committee had nothing to pay, in order to try the experiment of sustaining a Girls' School of a high grade. His offer was accepted, and the same sum per week paid to Mr. L. which had been paid to Miss Bright.

The committee and the city government at length made a very thorough examination of the school, and finally adopted it as the Girls' High School. It is not then, strictly true that either Mr. Littlefield or Miss Bright were teachers of the Girls' High School proper, although she labored prepared the way for the establishment of the school upon its present high grade.

The Whig of yesterday stated that a correspondence had suggested that some demonstration be made in honor of the oldest school teacher in the city. It is a very good suggestion and we hope it will be acted upon. He thirty years, and his earlier scholars are now in middle age and among our most prominent citizens. A reunion of his former pupils would be the occasion of much pleasure to all concerned and undoubtedly his winter evening class can be spent more pleasantly. We suggest the evening of St. Valentine's Day or the occasion of a Mercury.

The matter is now fairly before the "meeting house," and as we are probably the oldest member of the board, we take the responsibility to give notice that a preliminary meeting of all graduates of Mr. Valentine's school will be held at the Common Council Room, at half past seven o'clock, for consultation—Editor of Daily Whig and Courier.

The City Missionary Rev. Mr. Wells, desires us to say that he has received fifty dollars from unknown "Friends" for charitable purposes. The money will be faithfully appropriated according to the expressed wishes of the donor. This is the third annual donation of fifty dollars from the person for the same object.

We understand that the same person, as expressed above, has contributed another fifty dollars to the same object.

Our neighbor, Mr. Daniel C. Stone has opened a beautiful store in the new brick block on the corner of Exchange street and Kenduskeag Bridge. The exterior of the building is commanding and the location one of the most desirable in the city. The interior is highly finished, and Mr. Stone has a fine stock of clocks, watches, jewelry and fancy goods, all elegantly arranged, and making altogether an attractive appearance, which is sure to secure to him a substantial business. Mr. Stone is a good workman in the watch business, and doctors all the ailments of the time keepers.

The Duntoman system of Penmanship is getting to be as popular at the West as in New England. The system is now introduced into the public schools of St. Louis, Chicago and Cincinnati with the entire approbation of the teachers, and where it gives the highest satisfaction. Mr. Stone is frequently invited to visit the city with his chart and books for the purpose of instructing teachers in the method of teaching penmanship to large classes by the Duntoman system and he has in no instance yet failed to show the superiority of this system over all others.

A meeting of citizens was held at the Mechanics Institute on Thursday evening to consider the recent events connected with the Union. The meeting was largely attended and the proceedings were very quiet. The Mayor and police were heard denouncing the German Freemen, and the German Freemen in return, the Mayor was charged with having been in the city in the night, and a resolution was adopted that the Mayor be voted down. Warrants were issued for the arrest of Judge Spooner, Capt. Lunger of the police, and one hundred and four police and watchmen, charged with rioting and assaulting before the Mayor, and gave him for his appearance on Monday, to answer.

During nearly the twenty years we have been in the newspaper and printing business in this city, we have encountered various difficulties, but have never attempted to benefit ourselves by injuring others. Law and order have been our motto and the rule of our conduct. We have never boasted of the superior excellence of our paper over others, but have endeavored to make it speak for itself. We have never pretended that speaking was with us a secondary matter, which we did not deem, but have endeavored to make it for the interest of our friends to advertise, not by serving them well in the paper, and by giving to them as far as possible, our custom. If in doing this we have displeased any one, we do not regret that displeasure as it is not on our part, and we throw back the imputations of the Jeffersonian into its teeth for it to chew at its leisure.

We have invariably refused to employ runaway apprentices from other offices, or "third-handers" of any stamp. We have employed a greater number of journeymen for fifteen years past than any other and probably more than all the other offices in the city. We have paid higher salaries to journeymen during a portion of that time than was ever paid by any other office in Bangor.

We have now in our employ one man who has been with us nearly twenty years—another nine years, and another three years. This is certainly not bad record, and if the Jeffersonian wished to smash its head in diving into the private affairs of any printing office we do not know that it could have selected one that could resist the blow better than this office.

This is not a warfare which we intend to pursue by rooting into the private business of the Jeffersonian office, as their workmen are undoubtedly competent to make their own bargains, as we certainly know that our workmen are, and we disclaim the remark that "we doubt whether any of our workmen have made the subject of their agreements with us a matter of complaint or of public talk, but rather believe that the Jeffersonian has satisfied in that, as in other matters."

In justice to the memory of that venerable old man, Peter Edes, the publisher of the first paper printed in Bangor, whose Jeffersonian attempts to ridicule, we would say that we never heard his public or private character spoken against before, nor do we believe that he acted a dishonorable part in any of his transactions with his workmen or with others.

Mr. Littlefield desires us to say, that the ladies who placed his name amongst the teachers of the Girls' High School, made a mistake, he never having been a teacher in the school, unless hearing a class recite in French a short time, in connection with it, entitles him to that honor.

Perhaps, however, we should add, that prior to the establishment of the Girls' High School, a select school for girls was under the instruction of Miss Bright. She was called away from the city, and Mr. Littlefield, then having a private school, volunteered his services to take charge of the school for a few months for nothing, if the committee had nothing to pay, in order to try the experiment of sustaining a Girls' School of a high grade. His offer was accepted, and the same sum per week paid to Mr. L. which had been paid to Miss Bright.

The committee and the city government at length made a very thorough examination of the school, and finally adopted it as the Girls' High School. It is not then, strictly true that either Mr. Littlefield or Miss Bright were teachers of the Girls' High School proper, although she labored prepared the way for the establishment of the school upon its present high grade.

The Whig of yesterday stated that a correspondence had suggested that some demonstration be made in honor of the oldest school teacher in the city. It is a very good suggestion and we hope it will be acted upon. He thirty years, and his earlier scholars are now in middle age and among our most prominent citizens. A reunion of his former pupils would be the occasion of much pleasure to all concerned and undoubtedly his winter evening class can be spent more pleasantly. We suggest the evening of St. Valentine's Day or the occasion of a Mercury.

The matter is now fairly before the "meeting house," and as we are probably the oldest member of the board, we take the responsibility to give notice that a preliminary meeting of all graduates of Mr. Valentine's school will be held at the Common Council Room, at half past seven o'clock, for consultation—Editor of Daily Whig and Courier.

The City Missionary Rev. Mr. Wells, desires us to say that he has received fifty dollars from unknown "Friends" for charitable purposes. The money will be faithfully appropriated according to the expressed wishes of the donor. This is the third annual donation of fifty dollars from the person for the same object.

We understand that the same person, as expressed above, has contributed another fifty dollars to the same object.

TELEGRAPH.

TO THE DAILY WHIG AND COURIER.

Organization of Massachusetts State Government.

Boston, Jan. 11 1864.

The Senatorial vacancies were filled to-day by choice of Russell H. Killgore of Berkshire and Joseph L. Reynolds of Monson.

The Senate then elected Judge Washburn Governor, and R. C. Hunt, Lieut. Gov.

Gov. Washburn will probably be inaugurated to-morrow.

From Washington.

We learn from Washington, that Mr. Cass is addressing the Senate to-day on the Clayton and Bulwer treaty.

In the House the resolution of a testimonial to Commodore Ingraham is the subject of long debate.

No news yet of the Baltic.

XXXIII CONGRESS.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 9.

SENATE.

Mr. Chase of Ohio, presented the proceedings of a public meeting which was held in Cincinnati, relative to the interruption of the mails by the post-war proceeded from there.

Mr. Hendricks introduced a bill allowing a credit on duties on railroad iron. Referred to the Finance Committee.

Mr. Thompson of Kentucky, introduced a bill for adjusting the claims of the creditors of Texas, embraced within the act of 1850.

Mr. Benjamin offered a resolution calling for the correspondence with Mexico, relative to the Fortanepere right of way. Adopted and adjourned.

To the Ladies.—Hunt's Golden Globes, for the hair, is a preparation which is highly valued, and imparts the fragrance of the most delicate flowers. It makes the hair soft, glossy, and healthy, and prevents it from falling out or turning gray. It is a most valuable and useful preparation, and is highly recommended by all who value their hair. It is sold by all druggists and perfumers.

The Glory of Man and the Grace of God.

The Glory of Man and the Grace of God, is a most beautiful and useful preparation, and is highly recommended by all who value their hair. It is sold by all druggists and perfumers.

The Glory of Man and the Grace of God, is a most beautiful and useful preparation, and is highly recommended by all who value their hair. It is sold by all druggists and perfumers.

The Glory of Man and the Grace of God, is a most beautiful and useful preparation, and is highly recommended by all who value their hair. It is sold by all druggists and perfumers.

The Glory of Man and the Grace of God, is a most beautiful and useful preparation, and is highly recommended by all who value their hair. It is sold by all druggists and perfumers.

The Glory of Man and the Grace of God, is a most beautiful and useful preparation, and is highly recommended by all who value their hair. It is sold by all druggists and perfumers.

The Glory of Man and the Grace of God, is a most beautiful and useful preparation, and is highly recommended by all who value their hair. It is sold by all druggists and perfumers.

The Glory of Man and the Grace of God, is a most beautiful and useful preparation, and is highly recommended by all who value their hair. It is sold by all druggists and perfumers.

The Glory of Man and the Grace of God, is a most beautiful and useful preparation, and is highly recommended by all who value their hair. It is sold by all druggists and perfumers.

The Glory of Man and the Grace of God, is a most beautiful and useful preparation, and is highly recommended by all who value their hair. It is sold by all druggists and perfumers.

The Glory of Man and the Grace of God, is a most beautiful and useful preparation, and is highly recommended by all who value their hair. It is sold by all druggists and perfumers.

The Glory of Man and the Grace of God, is a most beautiful and useful preparation, and is highly recommended by all who value their hair. It is sold by all druggists and perfumers.

The Glory of Man and the Grace of God, is a most beautiful and useful preparation, and is highly recommended by all who value their hair. It is sold by all druggists and perfumers.

The Glory of Man and the Grace of God, is a most beautiful and useful preparation, and is highly recommended by all who value their hair. It is sold by all druggists and perfumers.

The Glory of Man and the Grace of God, is a most beautiful and useful preparation, and is highly recommended by all who value their hair. It is sold by all druggists and perfumers.

The Glory of Man and the Grace of God, is a most beautiful and useful preparation, and is highly recommended by all who value their hair. It is sold by all druggists and perfumers.

The Glory of Man and the Grace of God, is a most beautiful and useful preparation, and is highly recommended by all who value their hair. It is sold by all druggists and perfumers.

The Glory of Man and the Grace of God, is a most beautiful and useful preparation, and is highly recommended by all who value their hair. It is sold by all druggists and perfumers.

The Glory of Man and the Grace of God, is a most beautiful and useful preparation, and is highly recommended by all who value their hair. It is sold by all druggists and perfumers.

The Glory of Man and the Grace of God, is a most beautiful and useful preparation, and is highly recommended by all who value their hair. It is sold by all druggists and perfumers.

The Glory of Man and the Grace of God, is a most beautiful and useful preparation, and is highly recommended by all who value their hair. It is sold by all druggists and perfumers.

The Glory of Man and the Grace of God, is a most beautiful and useful preparation, and is highly recommended by all who value their hair. It is sold by all druggists and perfumers.

The Glory of Man and the Grace of God, is a most beautiful and useful preparation, and is highly recommended by all who value their hair. It is sold by all druggists and perfumers.

The Glory of Man and the Grace of God, is a most beautiful and useful preparation, and is highly recommended by all who value their hair. It is sold by all druggists and perfumers.

The Glory of Man and the Grace of God, is a most beautiful and useful preparation, and is highly recommended by all who value their hair. It is sold by all druggists and perfumers.

The Glory of Man and the Grace of God, is a most beautiful and useful preparation, and is highly recommended by all who value their hair. It is sold by all druggists and perfumers.

The Glory of Man and the Grace of God, is a most beautiful and useful preparation, and is highly recommended by all who value their hair. It is sold by all druggists and perfumers.

The Glory of Man and the Grace of God, is a most beautiful and useful preparation, and is highly recommended by all who value their hair. It is sold by all druggists and perfumers.

The Glory of Man and the Grace of God, is a most beautiful and useful preparation, and is highly recommended by all who value their hair. It is sold by all druggists and perfumers.

The Glory of Man and the Grace of God, is a most beautiful and useful preparation, and is highly recommended by all who value their hair. It is sold by all druggists and perfumers.

The Glory of Man and the Grace of God, is a most beautiful and useful preparation, and is highly recommended by all who value their hair. It is sold by all druggists and perfumers.

The Glory of Man and the Grace of God, is a most beautiful and useful preparation, and is highly recommended by all who value their hair. It is sold by all druggists and perfumers.

The Glory of Man and the Grace of God, is a most beautiful and useful preparation, and is highly recommended by all who value their hair. It is sold by all druggists and perfumers.

The Glory of Man and the Grace of God, is a most beautiful and useful preparation, and is highly recommended by all who value their hair. It is sold by all druggists and perfumers.

The Glory of Man and the Grace of God, is a most beautiful and useful preparation, and is highly recommended by all who value their hair. It is sold by all druggists and perfumers.

The Glory of Man and the Grace of God, is a most beautiful and useful preparation, and is highly recommended by all who value their hair. It is sold by all druggists and perfumers.

The Glory of Man and the Grace of God, is a most beautiful and useful preparation, and is highly recommended by all who value their hair. It is sold by all druggists and perfumers.

The Glory of Man and the Grace of God, is a most beautiful and useful preparation, and is highly recommended by all who value their hair. It is sold by all druggists and perfumers.

The Glory of Man and the Grace of God, is a most beautiful and useful preparation, and is highly recommended by all who value their hair. It is sold by all druggists and perfumers.

The Glory of Man and the Grace of God, is a most beautiful and useful preparation, and is highly recommended by all who value their hair. It is sold by all druggists and perfumers.

The Glory of Man and the Grace of God, is a most beautiful and useful preparation, and is highly recommended by all who value their hair. It is sold by all druggists and perfumers.

The Glory of Man and the Grace of God, is a most beautiful and useful preparation, and is highly recommended by all who value their hair. It is sold by all druggists and perfumers.

The Glory of Man and the Grace of God, is a most beautiful and useful preparation, and is highly recommended by all who value their hair. It is sold by all druggists and perfumers.

The Glory of Man and the Grace of God, is a most beautiful and useful preparation, and is highly recommended by all who value their hair. It is sold by all druggists and perfumers.

The Glory of Man and the Grace of God, is a most beautiful and useful preparation, and is highly recommended by all who value their hair. It is sold by all druggists and perfumers.

The Glory of Man and the Grace of God, is a most beautiful and useful preparation, and is highly recommended by all who value their hair. It is sold by all druggists and perfumers.

The Glory of Man and the Grace of God, is a most beautiful and useful preparation, and is highly recommended by all who value their hair. It is sold by all druggists and perfumers.

The Glory of Man and the Grace of God, is a most beautiful and useful preparation, and is highly recommended by all who value their hair. It is sold by all druggists and perfumers.

The Glory of Man and the Grace of God, is a most beautiful and useful preparation, and is highly recommended by all who value their hair. It is sold by all druggists and perfumers.

The Glory of Man and the Grace of God, is a most beautiful and useful preparation, and is highly recommended by all who value their hair. It is sold by all druggists and perfumers.

The Glory of Man and the Grace of God, is a most beautiful and useful preparation, and is highly recommended by all who value their hair. It is sold by all druggists and perfumers.

The Glory of Man and the Grace of God, is a most beautiful and useful preparation, and is highly recommended by all who value their hair. It is sold by all druggists and perfumers.

The Glory of Man and the Grace of God, is a most beautiful and useful preparation, and is

LS., dy for the ous Indian, Fever, Influenza

de Back Indeed
 tive Men rich sick of a huma nity used habit of nabus and n avoid ed
 n negative oms, and come o temper Hemerance to perfected and an Prof. our sing
 the Cu
 y not su edition and truth
 om we ar

ashed Sw st of e of Mac, rgeon and long nee

first mer on of the the ludred with men on red and f

(h) Me
 (i) Me
 (j) Me
 (k) Me
 (l) Me
 (m) Me
 (n) Me
 (o) Me
 (p) Me
 (q) Me
 (r) Me
 (s) Me
 (t) Me
 (u) Me
 (v) Me
 (w) Me
 (x) Me
 (y) Me
 (z) Me

born b	frei
col b	che
ation es	ere
a far	orb
sch i	an
e für we	han
i qd	ev

T

10
 11 12
 13
 14
 15
 16
 17
 18 19 20 21
 22
 23
 24
 25
 26
 27
 28
 29
 30
 31
 32
 33
 34
 35
 36
 37
 38
 39
 40
 41
 42
 43
 44
 45
 46
 47
 48
 49
 50
 51
 52
 53
 54
 55
 56
 57
 58
 59
 60
 61
 62
 63
 64
 65
 66
 67
 68
 69
 70
 71
 72
 73
 74
 75
 76
 77
 78
 79 80
 81
 82
 83
 84
 85
 86
 87
 88 89
 90
 91
 92
 93
 94
 95
 96
 97
 98
 99
 100
 101
 102
 103
 104
 105
 106
 107
 108
 109
 110
 111
 112
 113
 114
 115
 116
 117
 118
 119
 120
 121
 122
 123
 124
 125
 126
 127
 128
 129
 130
 131
 132
 133
 134
 135
 136
 137
 138
 139
 140
 141
 142
 143
 144
 145
 146
 147
 148
 149
 150
 151
 152
 153
 154
 155
 156
 157
 158
 159
 160
 161
 162
 163
 164
 165
 166
 167
 168
 169
 170
 171
 172
 173
 174
 175
 176
 177
 178
 179
 180
 181
 182
 183
 184
 185
 186
 187
 188
 189
 190
 191
 192
 193
 194
 195
 196
 197
 198
 199
 200
 201
 202
 203
 204
 205
 206
 207
 208
 209
 210
 211
 212
 213
 214
 215
 216
 217
 218
 219
 220
 221
 222
 223
 224
 225
 226
 227
 228
 229
 230
 231
 232
 233
 234
 235
 236
 237 238
 239
 240
 241
 242
 243
 244
 245
 246
 247
 248
 249
 250
 251
 252
 253
 254
 255
 256
 257
 258
 259
 260
 261
 262
 263
 264
 265
 266
 267
 268
 269
 270
 271
 272
 273
 274
 275
 276
 277
 278
 279
 280
 281
 282
 283
 284
 285
 286
 287
 288
 289
 290
 291
 292
 293
 294
 295
 296
 297
 298
 299
 300
 301
 302
 303
 304
 305
 306
 307
 308
 309
 310
 311
 312
 313
 314
 315
 316
 317
 318
 319
 320
 321
 322
 323
 324
 325
 326
 327
 328
 329
 330
 331
 332
 333
 334
 335
 336
 337
 338
 339
 340
 341
 342
 343
 344
 345
 346
 347
 348
 349
 350
 351
 352
 353
 354
 355
 356
 357
 358
 359
 360
 361
 362
 363
 364 365
 366
 367
 368
 369
 370
 371
 372
 373
 374
 375
 376
 377
 378
 379
 380
 381
 382
 383
 384
 385
 386
 387
 388
 389
 390
 391
 392
 393
 394
 395
 396
 397
 398
 399
 400
 401
 402
 403
 404
 405
 406
 407
 408
 409
 410
 411
 412
 413
 414
 415
 416
 417
 418
 419
 420
 421
 422
 423 424
 425
 426 427
 428
 429
 430
 431
 432
 433
 434
 435
 436
 437
 438
 439
 440
 441
 442
 443
 444
 445
 446
 447
 448
 449
 450
 451
 452
 453
 454
 455
 456
 457
 458
 459
 460
 461
 462
 463
 464
 465
 466
 467
 468
 469
 470
 471
 472
 473
 474
 475
 476
 477
 478
 479
 480
 481
 482
 483
 484
 485
 486
 487
 488
 489
 490
 491
 492
 493
 494
 495
 496
 497
 498
 499 500
 501 502
 503
 504
 505
 506
 507
 508
 509
 510
 511
 512
 513
 514
 515
 516
 517
 518
 519
 520
 521
 522
 523
 524
 525
 526
 527
 528
 529
 530
 531
 532 red h = know have no

...le open
...ile n
...e for
...i 1 x 1
...wonderful
...any em
...ung c

who —B all
St Kear
Lau
Mr

to take case from

and the
and in the Har
Brows

TS MAR

to the-d w ne re War

N CAND MAY

day year again see are n in a Po

TS eligi ut not

Re Brust

But tra G Toop other about gent

Jac ber's.
glub sule a nov

E
I'm a Home Bird. and I with

Mac
Palo

F
and L

F
and L

FEB
 1950

R,

R,

R,

R,